The project 'Agir ensemble pour grandir' aims to make the EITB-Atelier Nomade, the Beninese international associative theater-school, more competitive by accelerating its professionalization through the implementation of activities in various sectors, thus allowing it to establish itself sustainably among the players in the cultural and creative industry of the region.

In this context, the association will be restructured, and the human resources will benefit from training. The theater's creative spaces will become autonomous sites of creation. The theatre school will be transformed into a veritable performance factory, and the creation of a permanent troupe of 20 multidisciplinary artists will enhance the quality of performances.

To promote and disseminate these cultural contents, the project intends to develop a network of cultural operators from 4 neighboring countries, working together in synergy across nine theaters.

Furthermore, this project aligns with the aim of guiding Atelier Nomade towards the digital transition, by creating a digital platform and monetization solutions such as online ticketing and payment by phone.
