The 'Fiji Script Development Programme' (FSDP) has the objective of establishing a thriving community of Fijian scriptwriters and fostering the growth of a local film and television industry with the capacity to bring the distinctive voices of Fijians to the screen.

In pursuit of this objective, an open call for Fijian applicants will be launched, leading to the selection of 20 screenplay projects annually. Scriptwriters will receive financial support for their scripts (EUR 2000 per project) and assistance in acquiring the necessary software. Additionally, five script consultants will be hired to provide guidance to 4 scriptwriters each year.

Furthermore, 12 high-level workshops will be organized (6 per batch), focusing on the fundamental principles of screenwriting. Participants will gain the tools and skills needed to pursue careers as scriptwriters for both film and television.

Ultimately, this programme will contribute to enhancing the quality of locally written scripts, facilitating their export to international markets and festivals, thereby creating an associated income stream.
