The 'Incub'art' project aims to structure and energize two artistic troupes in Burkina Faso to promote artistic and cultural activities in rural areas.

In this context, two artistic troupes from Belga, «SALGRE» from YARMA and «WANROGDO» from BATTEURS, the former practicing the traditional Yarma dance of the Yarsé community and the latter being an animation group using cylindrical drums as part of the Masques fraternity, have benefited from strengthening their organizational and creative capacities.

This was materialized through workshops in cultural management and acting skills, as well as through an artistic creation residency leading to the production of two live performances in Boulsa and Ouagadougou.

The troupes were officially declared, and professional networking trips took place.

Finally, the project helped to promote the Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs) in terms of education, gender equality, sustainability, and access to decent employment.
