The project 'Revival of Independent Production in Cape Verde' has three objectives. The first is to revitalize the sector of independent music production and distribution. The second is to give impetus to the local cultural chain. The third consists of providing training and production tools to artists for the preservation of Cape Verdean musical heritage, while also producing new talents in a sustainable manner.

In this regard, this project, aimed at professionals in production (music, audiovisual, digital) and distribution (communicators, technicians, managers, distributors), aims to revive recording studios, produce three music albums and one album of Mornas, traditional Cape Verdean music, design digital platforms, and monetize content.

Jobs will be created in the cultural sector, generating income for artists and their families in an attractive environment for new investors. Thus, Cape Verde's music sector can once again become a national and international player while preserving its popular cultural heritage.
