The 'Kingston Creative Accelerator' project aims to provide high-potential creative entrepreneurs with capacity building through training, mentoring, tools, and practical knowledge, enabling them to develop their businesses and access international markets.

Within this framework, the «Go Global» creative accelerator, a 10-week acceleration program focused on training, capacity building, and preparation, enabled 10 companies to enhance their entrepreneurial efforts. Subsequently, these companies successfully registered their businesses and intellectual property, ensuring legal protection and ownership.

Additionally, partnerships were established with eight international entities to enhance visibility and market access for participants. In this regard, two creative companies participated in an exchange program with foreign incubators, and 10 companies were included nationally in the Caribbean Creative Network database, thus facilitating networking opportunities.

Lastly, narrative media, particularly videos, promoted the work of creative entrepreneurs, increasing their visibility and showcasing their offerings.
