The 'Digitoonz Afrika' project aims to promote and enhance the Senegalese digital comic book industry.

In this context, the first laboratory dedicated to digital comics has been established in Senegal, setting up hubs in the sociocultural centers of five regions of the country. These hubs are designed as spaces for training and knowledge sharing.

Furthermore, the creation of the digital comic platform «digitoonzafrika.com» has provided a showcase for the works of project beneficiaries and other creators.

Additionally, the first digital comic festival was organized in the regions where the project activities take place. This festival allowed local populations easy access to comics produced in the country and facilitated direct exchanges with the authors.

Moreover, collaborations have been established with entities specializing in the creation, publishing, and sale of online comics, as well as workshops for creating webtoons and online training courses.
